Newsletter - N.5 / 2022

On November 24 and 25 we met in Barcelona for the sixth transnational meeting of the SAVE Project (the fifth in attendance).

In the afternoon of the 24th, the Multiplier Event organized by partner CRIA took place. The meeting was held at the Orpheus Cultural Center, Choral and Music School located in the Gracia neighborhood. The meeting was attended by 30 people including teachers and project workers engaged in cultural and social promotion activities. During the meeting, all partners explained the experimentation done on the modules and illustrated the results that emerged, contributing to an active and participatory discussion focused on the innovative methods brought by the project. The audience interacted with interest, actively participating in the discussion.

After the event, the partners visited the Orpheus Center and learned about the activities it promotes.

Following this, CRIA staff accompanied the partners from the other countries on an interesting tour of the Gracia neighborhood, a place of great cultural and historical interest and the active and pulsating center of the city; a convivial moment followed.

In the morning of November 25, the partners met to discuss and debate the content and text produced that will form the Final Manual. The chapters of the Final Handbook were written in October, and the meeting in Barcelona was an opportunity to discuss the texts and content. The Handbook will be an innovative tool and a valuable contribution to the ongoing debate in the various nations on the topic of Global Citizenship. The partners also discussed the different channels for disseminating the results obtained from the fruitful research done in the previous months and worked towards the imminent closure of the project. The Handbook will be published on the SAVE website. For all materials regarding the project, please see the following link:
